What is an Academy?

Academies are one day, hands-on courses taught by lawyers and law students that include interactive sessions, Q & A with experienced special education attorneys, and networking with other advocates and parents.

What will I learn?

Participants will learn about special education law and advocacy, including individualized education programs (IEPs), parental rights under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), assessments, accommodations, specialized supports and services, procedural safeguards, and dispute resolution techniques.

How much does it cost?

$20 per person. Scholarships are available based on need. Includes lunch, snacks, advocacy handouts, and personalized certificate.

Academies will be presented in English and translated into Spanish
